

The Story of the Undead Nurse

By Julian Dd

Everybody knows the undead nurse but does anybody know the story behind the it? her name was janice. she worked at grace field hospital. It was a stormy night at gracefield hospital. it was exactly 2 a.m. janice was working overtime because she was running low on money. janice was a very bad nurse. she actually killed a man when she gave him too much sleeping gas. So janice was walking around waiting for someone to come. finally someone came. It was a man with a black hoodie. he had a knife he raised his arm aiming to throw it to her head. and he yelled 'you killed my father you son of a bitch!' and he threw the knife. she ducked and jumped out the window. she broke her leg. she was climbing to the car. all of a sudden the man jumped towards her but got struck by lightning because he was holding a combat knife. she finally got in the car and drove to the gas station thinking she lost him. but then she saw him driving in a truck with a gas trailer at the end of it. The man was also smoking. then lightning struck the gas trailer making the truck flip and the trailer hitting all the gas machines making them leak. then his cigarette flew out of his mouth making the gas station explode. she was lit into flames. the man was almost dead. he threw the knife to her head and janice and the man died. then guess what. the lightning struck the knife which was in janice's head making her come back to life. now she is the undead nurse and she kills anybody that yells in the gracefield hospital at 2 a.m. with the knife that she died with. So far she killed 99 people. but she can always kill 1 more. the end.